

C#.NET WPF / WCF software developers wanted

We're currently looking for talented young software developers to help us build state-of-the-art business applications for our customers in the Nordic financial industry.

Since we're Microsoft based to the bones, the ideal candidate will have a natural preference for the newest technologies and standards on the Microsoft platform. Currently we're extremely focused on: WPF, WCF and .NET 3.5 - 4.0 ;-)

Further questions? Or just plain interested?
